LENYO Fractal and Fractal Meridian

Home-use devices offering a range of BRT programs

The LENYO Fractal and Fractal Meridian are state-of-the-art, home-use devices that use advanced Bioregulation Therapy (BRT) technology to support biological communications at the cellular level – ultimately helping the body to better self-regulate, adapt and heal naturally.

They are lightweight, durable and easily portable, and they offer convenient options for applying therapy in both sitting and supine (flat on the back) positions.

The LENYO Fractal

With 32 automated BRT programs, the Fractal provides the widest range of programs in a home-use device on the market. Each BRT program features several sub-programs that target specific communication channels, enhancing the effectiveness of the therapy by leveraging synergistically working tissues.

Examples of the Fractal programs include Anti-aging, Circulation, Concentration, Detox, Energy Balancing, Immune, Muscle and Relaxation.

The LENYO Fractal Meridian

The Fractal Meridian is designed to specifically address the body's Meridian systems in order to clear blockages and restore inner harmony. The Fractal Meridian offers 32 automated programs that support various holistic and alternative wellness approaches – including meridian therapy, chakra system, yin and yang balance, and Five Elements theory.

Examples of the Fractal Meridian programs include Energy Field, Intuition and Mental Alertness.

As part of the most advanced and comprehensive suite of BRT devices in the industry, the LENYO Fractal and Fractal Meridian devices combine energy-focused BRT technology with the body's own innate communication processes to accelerate healing, maintain wellness and reestablish a natural state of wellbeing.
